CLEAN DESIGN AND HIGH FUNCTIONALITY ARE NOW FOUND IN THE KITCHEN WITH THE NEW KWC ONO

NORCROSS, Ga. (May 2007) – With its minimalist styling, the KWC ONO embodies a combination of purist design and technical perfection. The slender and elegant profile, combined with the easy to use filigree lever lends precision in operation and form to the kitchen.

“The KWC ONO offers customized variations for every kitchen,” says Jeff Boardman, regional sales manager of Hansa and KWC AMERICA. “It’s an elegant alternative to established pull-out sprays.”

KWC ONO’s side operated model with its sophisticated, integrated joint-less pull-out aerator, is a purist, no-compromise faucet solution that guarantees easy handling of large containers and is simple to clean. The faucet also has a sophisticated control mechanism made of high strength hardened stainless steel. The innovative movements also ensure that joints and soiled edges are minimal.

The KWC ONO also incorporates KWC JETCLEAN technology. The pull-out spray has a sieve made of a material that allows the holes to expand when water flows. If hard water build-up does occur, this can easily be removed from the flexible sieve material.

The KWC ONO is also available for the bath.
